VOLUME 22

DECEMBER 1984

President's message

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

We're entering a very joyous, blessed, and happy time of the year as 1984 passes into the records books. I'd like to take this opportunity to wish each and every member of N.O.W. a numismatically rewarding 1985.

In a few short months, N.O.W. will place 25 years of past history into the official records. 1985 will see our Silver Anniversary convention come May 25-26 at Appleton, it promises to be the premier Wisconsin event of 1985. I trust all members will give complete 1985 priority to this gala happening. Executive Board members Harold Helm, Dick Anderson, and Gene Johnson are diligently working on all the little sidelites that go with such an event; things look good. Board member Bob Van Ryzin, (General Chairman), has things well in hand as far as the convention operation goes. I would certainly encourage the dealer-members of N.O.W. to plug the May 25-26 convention into their schedule at this time; give it top priority. If you have not already subscribed to a bourse position, I would encourage you to do so at once. The accomodations at the Paper Valley Convention Center promise to be the greatest.

Current plans include a Wisconsinia material auction via the Kurt Krueger organization. The entire board is looking forward to an outstanding annual event. There's something special about silver you know, and this is our 25th.

With regards to your Executive Board, we've met at Milwaukee twice and at Baraboo within the past months. Board meetings have been productive; there is a cooperative spirit to keep NOW rolling. V.P. Carol Janney has the club reps program well under way. Club reps will hold their first get together at Appleton come May 25th. If your member club has not as yet formalized it's NOW rep, I suggest you contact Ms. Janney at once. All Executive Board member addresses are listed in this issue of the NOW News.

Again, in closing, best wishes for the holiday season. May we all find our stockings stuffed with numismatic gems. If I can borrow a page from Scrooge, I hope my personal stocking'll be stuffed with Wisconsin storecards 510D, J & 550C. If you can't come up with these, how's about getting NOW a new member for 1985? Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good 1985.

NOW BUYS VIDEO TAPE

In action at the interim Board of Governors meeting at Milwaukee-MECCA, a purchase of video tape presentation on collecting and grading U.S. coins was approved. The video tape, which will be lent to local coin clubs as a program for meetings is described as follows:

COLLECTING AND GRADING U.S. COINS is a 60 minute video program that was developed in cooperation with the American Numismatic Association. The primary purpose of the video program is to give the collector a permanent. easy to use reference guide to assist in determining the proper grade of a coin. In addition, the video program provides the serious collector with general numismatic knowledge and information necessary to intelligently build a coin collection.

Write NOW President Bob Kraft if your club would like to utilize this teaching media.

APPLETON NOW PLANS

The wheels are in motion to make the 25th anniversary of NOW a pleasing and memorable occasion. The setting is supurb, the Paper Inn at Appleton ranks as one of the very top facilities in Wisconsin as a convention center and meeting place. beautiful new facility has reduced room rates for our show, and the NOW officers and Board of Governors hope you will plan your spring vacation outing in this luxury hostelry!

As for the "special" plans for the NOW show, a "Silver Anniversary" booklet will be published for each NOW member, membership pinbacks will be given to all members and visitors, NOW past presidents will be honored, club representatives from local clubs fetted, and several "surprise" type presentations made. Dick Anderson has made arrangements for a NOW gathering at Dougs Supper Club on Saturday night, Chet Krause is assembling an eye opening "Wisconsin" set of exhibits for the show, and the host Appleton (Fox Valley) club has promised a fine bourse and competitive exhibits. The next issue of NOW News will include hotel rate cards and lots more information on the Appleton area. May 25-26. Check your vacation/weekend out calenders, this will be a great one!

N.O.W. AUCTION SET

ANA Governor Kurt Krueger and NOW President Bob Kraft have confirmed that the 25th Silver Anniversary convention in Appleton will feature a Wisconsinia material auction.

Current plans are for a one session floor auction on Sunday afternoon to feature some 300-500 lots of Wisconsinia material, to include paper, CWSC, merchant tokens, masonics, military and such. The auction is to be handled by the Krueger firm, catalogued and extensively advertised.

Kraft looks for the auction to be a valuable adjunct to the NOW Show and is encouraging NOW members to make consignments to the Krueger organization. All inquiries may be directed to Kurt Krueger, 160 N Washington St. Iola, WI 54945.

I think we are all prone to describe things that we do as the "best ever"!

The 16th Annual Summer Seminar is no exception nor would the description be an exaggeration. With your help and that of several other sponsors, a number of young numismatists were able to participate in the week long event traditionally held on the campus of Colorado College.

Christopher Foley, the young man that you sponsored was an outstanding student and you should be very proud of him. I am sure that you will be hearing directly from Christopher in the near future to relate more on his experiences here at Colorado Springs last week.

Sincerely,

Edward C. Rochette

Bob Korosec announced MNS has decided to sponsor the second prize of $75.00 for the NOW Literary Award.

Well, our club now has a new logo. The board selected 3 finalists out of 13 entries which were submitted by 7 different members. The 3 final logo designs were submitted to the membership at the August meeting to be voted on and the entry of Del Bertschy was the choice of the members. Entries by Jerry Panfil and myself were runners-up.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has produced its five billionth currency note of the 1984 production year--the first time in its history that the five billion mark was reached during a one-year period.

With 12 presses operating 24 hours a day, the Bureau prints 8 thousand notes; per hour for a total of $165 million worth of currency per day.

Iola was once 'Coin Collectors' Capitol'

Iola was buzzing on September 26th of this year, awaiting the arrival of CBS newsman Charles Kurault and his film crew. Seems CBS was filming a sequence on self proclaimed capitals, Iola has been known years as the "Coin Collectors Capital"! Sad to say, KP and Iola didn't get this juicy free advertising due to a little goof up. Seems in the late 1970's the big sign outside Iola highway 49 was changed from "Coin Collectors Capital" to "Home of the Midwests Largest Car Show". The capital dome and logo that was pridefull and appropriate for Iola and KP faded as non numismatic publications and diversification changed the single identity of Numismatic News into Krause Publications.

NEWSPAPER NEWSMAKERS

Two NOW members picked up some very nice newspaper coverage this late summer. Past President Harold Helm was featured in a picture and text biggle in the "Oshkosh Northwestern". Harolds collecting exploits and stories covered about 35 column inches.

Ralph Winquist was interviewed by Numismatic News concerning the numismatic book business. The large question and answer story brought out the best in Ralph as he recalled his start in the hobby, and on thru the present. Good reading in both stories about a couple of class fellas!

WCPMA GOLF OUTING

The Wisconsin Coin and Precious Metals Association golf outing for 1984 is history, and tho the NOW News camera wasn't present due to our daughters wedding we did receive this feedback. Low gross was won by Jerry Schomich with an 80. Ken Korsoc had the longest successful putt, big Jim Bayer had long drive, Joe Pankratz, closest to the pin in one, Joe Dunn, shortest drive, and Harold Jones and Mark Ferguson tied for highest gross score.

Wis. Coin and Precious Metals Assn. membership is $100 annually, address inquiries to Lens Coins and Stamps, 6801 University Ave. Middleton, WI 53562.

DEADLY

CARSON CITY SILVER

By Bob Van Ryzin WNWA

On the morning of July 4, 1882, Comstock miner, William F. Grant was riding the cage up from the bottom of the Chollar-Norcross-Savage mine when he became faint. lost his balance, keeled over, toppled from the cage and was horribly crushed between the cage and the wall plates of the mine shaft before he plummeted to his death. The workers who were with Grant quickly signaled the hoist engineer to lower the cage to the bottom of the shaft where they recovered Grant's mutilated remains. 1

Slightly more than one month later, on Friday, August 11, 1882 Thomas Veale, a carman at the same mine lost his balance and fell 280 feet to his death in a scalding pool of water. Veale had boarded the cage with intent of ascending to the surface in order to pick up materials with which to fix a hydraulic pump. The cage had traveled only four feet when he signaled the engineer to stop the hoist. A witness to the accident, who had been at work in one of the nearby drifts, heard a noise and ran to the shaft only to discover that the cage in which Veale had been riding was empty. After signaling for help, volunteers arrived and were lowered to the bottom of the shaft where they dragged Veale's badly deformed body from the sump. 2

Gruesome, grisly tales such as those just related often seemed to be the mainstay of the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise which regularly, graphically detailed the latest injury or death at the Comstock Lode. They also serve to draw attention to the tremendous risks that accompanied the early deep rock mining operations that produced much of the silver coined at the Carson City, Nevada Mint during the late 1800's. The Comstock Lode, located on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, a short distance by rail from the Carson City Mint. was one of the richest bodies of ore ever discovered in the United States, yielding over 400 million dollars worth of gold and silver. But, beyond its great wealth and importance to the nation, the history of the Comstock Lode also vields a disturbing tale of the great risk and danger faced by those who dared to extract its wealth.

Statistics compiled by contemporary historian Elliot Lord revealed that between 1863 and 1880, the peak production years at the Lode, some 295 miners were killed and at least 606 were injured in mine related accidents. 3. So great was the danger that a miner who spent ten years at his job stood a one in three chance of being seriously injured and a one in eight chance of being killed. 4 As T.H. Watkins noted in his book, Gold and Silver in the West:

Indeed the underground miner faced a seemingly endless variety of hazards everytime he set foot in the mine. He could be blown to bits in an explosion, drown in a sump, suffocated and incinerated in a fire, scalded by hot water, crushed by falling rocks or cave-ins, wound up in the machinery, ground under the wheels of an ore car, have his head split open with an ax or pick, his neck broken by being run up into the hoist frame, or his whole body smashed out of shape and reduced to pulp, or ripped apart and scattered in shreds by falling down a shaft. 5

But by far the most common way in which a Comstock miner lost his life was as the result of a cave-in. The porous nature of the walls of the Comstock Lode made mining extremely dangerous and led to a rather strange relationship between the miners who worked the Lode and the rats which infested it. Comstock miners quickly became aware of the uncanny ability of those hungry little critters to forecast, through sensing minute vibrations, impending cave-ins, thereby, warning the miners of the danger. The miners, in turn, were only to happy to keep their little friends well-fed in return for this valuable service.

As a sidelight, it should be mentioned that the Comstock rats were looked upon as good-luck charms. It was said that when a rat entered a new drift it was a sure sign that the miners would strike ore. Comstock miners clung so readily to this superstition that November 25, 1882 issue the Territorial Enterprise in reporting that a rat had been sighted in the Sierra Nevada mine cautioned, "there is much talk among the miners about the coming of this rat, and the men in the new cross-cut are very proud of it, and have high hopes on account of its presence. Woe unto the man who shall intentionally kill that Sierra Nevada rat!"

It took a lot of courage and determination to bring the silver riches of the Comstock Lode to the Carson City Mint for coinage, and many dedicated miners forfeited life and limb in their vain search for wealth deep mining the Comstock.
The story of which, if nothing else, shows that there is often more to the background of a coin, such as those bearing the famous
"CC" mintmark, than at first meets the eye.

NEW ANA GOLD AWARD MEDAL

The prestigious Farran Zerbe Memorial Award of 1984 was presented for the first time in the form of a fine art medal. The unwieldy plaque that has represented the award since its inception in 1951 has been retired in favor of a gold medal adopted by the American Numismatic Association Board of Governors.

The new medal, representing the ANA's highest meritorious award, contains a full ounce of fine gold as specified by the ANA Board. Struck in 10K gold, it measures 2 inches in diameter. It is uniface with space below the design on which the recipient's name and sate of his award will be engraved.

Four NOW members have been honored with the award since its inception in 1951.
They are: Richard S. Yeoman

They are: Richard S. Yeoman in 1956, Chet Krause, in 1977, George D. Hatie, in 1982, and now Cliff Mishler in 1984.

FIELD TRIP TO CHICAGO FEDERAL RESERVE

On August 17, 1984, 22 members and guests of the Milwaukee Numismatic Society and South Shore Coin Club made a field trip via Badger Coach to the Chicago Federal Reserve. Arriving at the Fed a little after 10:00am we were courteously greeted by Public Information Representatives Michael Ben Frank Kocich. Our guides then took us to a room we were shown a 25 minute film. Mike told us the film was made in 1978 and every operation in the film was the same except they no longer burned the worn out currency but shredded it. Korosec later told me shredded money was available to anyone but only in 3 1/2 ton lots. Anyone have a semi the club can use to pick up one lot? The cameras were then taken away (to protect the identities of the 2,000 employees), and we were all issued ID stick on patches.

We were split into two groups and a tour of the building began. Mike led the way in our group. Our first stop was at the "check sorting" room. This room is kept at a constant 68 degrees to help keep the machines from overheating. To handle the tremendous volume of checks the machines run 24 hours a day.

A counting room was our next stop. Two employeess were using a small counting machine to check bundles off currency for correct amounts. After counting this money, it is placed back into circulation.

We were shown some frames of money used from 1862 to present, the popular 1901 Bison and an 1899 Indiam Chief note along with a very scarce hand signed Series 1878 Silver Certificate were on exhibit. Unfortunately for us the numismatic room was closed for repairs and that was all we did see numismatically.

The shredding machiness were viewed next and Mikee said some 15 million worth of notes were shredded day. That concluded the tourn and our group returned the room where we viewed the film. Our cameras were returned and Mike handed uss all small souvenir packets of shredded money. We were also allowed to take severall handouts on information conthe Fed and money. cerning That concluded the tour which took about 1 1/2 hours.

On behalf of those who went on the trip, I want to thank the Milwaukee Numismatic Society and South Shored Coin Club for footing the bill for the trip ($303 for the Badger Coach).

Numismatically Yours,
John Wilson
